Village May Limit Package Liquor Store Licenses

Ordinance Would Allow One for Every 800 or Major Fraction

Preparation of a village ordinance that would limit the number of package liquor stores in Antioch to one for every 800 residents or major fraction of that number is in process.

The board of trustees unanimously agreed to the preparation of such an ordinance by the village attorney for passage at an early date.

Antioch at present has three liquor stores. According to the latest census which places the population at 1,100 (it is more now) the village would have but one. To have two there must be more than 1,200 residents.

The ordinance would not affect those now holding a license, but should any of the three give up its license, no new one would be issued.

The action of the board was seen by some as a repercussion of the recent issuance of a new liquor license.

War to Stop Reckless Motorboat Driving Is Declared by State D. C.

War on reckless motorboat drivers was declared today by the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Director Livingston E. Osborne announced that conservation officers have been instructed to patrol all waters thoroughly and constantly to make arrests where deemed necessary to safeguard swimmers and vacationers in sail or rowboats.

New speedy patrolboats have been added to the conservation department's fleet of motorcraft to enforce state and government regulations, Director Osborne stated.

Penalties for convicted violators range from fines of not less than $10, nor more than $200.00 and jail sentences of from 5 to 90 days.

Cooperating with the conservation department are the Division of Waterways of the Department of Public Works and Buildings and the Outboard Boating Club of America.

Conservation officers are concentrating their drive on "water cowboys" in the waters of the Fox Chain O' Lakes, where most complaints in the past have been made and where a number of deaths have been caused by reckless speedboating.

Safety Posters Prepared

Safety posters and folders have been provided in all resorts of the Fox Chain, said Howard F. Larson, Educational Director of the Outboard Boating Club of America who gave the following rules for "common sense afloat":

Never overload your boat; seats don't indicate capacity.

Avoid staying out in storms, know and heed weather signs.

Never stand up in a moving boat, —it's the easiest way to capsize.

Always step into the center of a boat, never jump.

Never smoke while refueling, gasoline is inflammable.

Make sure your motor is not too powerful for your boat.

In charge of the water safety campaign is Robert C. Sparks, Chief Inspector of the Illinois Department of Conservation's Division of Law Enforcement who says: "This is a campaign of regulations rather than restrictions. There is no intention of interfering with motorboats in general. They have as much right to the waters of Illinois as any others. We intend however to do our utmost to safeguard the lives of swimmers, fishermen and others and to bear down on the 'water cowboys' who think it is smart to frighten people in smaller boats."

"Federal laws provide that boats under sail or oars always have the right of way, and that motorboats must keep clear of them at all times, any boat overtaking another must keep out of the way, and as far as possible, boats should keep to the right of channels or fairways."

Any observer of reckless water driving is urged to get the number of the offending boat and report it with the facts to a conservation officer.

Miss Evelyn Van Patton and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wojcik, of Chicago spent the holidays in Antioch.

Firemen Say Farewell To Frank B. Huber at Dinner This Evening

Members and former members of the Antioch fire department will say their farewells to Frank B. Huber, their colleague, at a dinner 7:30 p. m. this evening at the Pregrener resort. Plates will be laid for 40 persons.

Huber is leaving the department after 28 years of service to take permanent residence with his niece in Venice, Calif. A former president and captain of the department, Huber was the first president of the Lake County Firemen's association.

He will leave the village Sunday, having disposed of all his business interests here.

Carnival Opens Tonight With Fair Weather and Large Crowds Promised

Rides and concessions for the American Legion carnival were set up yesterday and today and everything seems in readiness for the big opening this evening. The carnival will close Sunday night.

Promise of fair weather at least for a day or two and perhaps the rest of the week gave encouragement to the Legionnaires and the auxiliary who are expecting a big patronage.

They urged their members to give every bit of assistance to eliminate hired labor and to increase the profits thereby. They asked for help especially in the concession booths.

The carnival is expected to attract many persons at the lakes for their summer outing.

Henry J. Ruggles of Lake Catherine is providing the concession properties and the Fish Amusement Co. of Richland, Wis., the four rides.

Large Crowds of Visitors Spend Double Holiday in Lakes Area - No Accidents

Tremendous crowds came to the Chain O' Lakes region over the double holiday, Sunday and Monday with the remarkable result there wasn't a single fatal accident.

Because of the many cars on the highway motorists drove slowly and were more careful. In Cook county traffic was routed by means of a helicopter which surveyed the situation from aloft and notified traffic patrolmen of any jams so that they could divert traffic into less traveled roads.

The weather was ideal over the weekend although Monday was much warmer than Sunday and made swimming more comfortable.

The resorts all did big business. The Cardinal bus line ran extra buses and even pressed a Greyhound bus into service during an emergency.

Sixty members of the Chain O' Lakes Boat club went to Davenport and witnessed the State of Scott regatta put on by the Midwest Power Boat association. There were some good races, especially in the Class E division.

Three years elapse until that grade is reached and after five years of service the carrier may be promoted to the 13th grade and after seven years in that grade shall be promoted to grade 14.

Petition Filed Seeking Airport at Tiffany Farm

Hearing Yesterday Is Postponed in View of Opposition

Whether Antioch will have a new airport and flying school soon will be determined at a hearing of the petition of Bruce Artis, pilot, who has asked the Illinois Aeronautics commission permission to establish the port on land now owned by C. F. Spiering at the southwest intersection of North ave., rd. and Tiffany rd. west of the village.

A hearing on the petition was set for 10 a. m. yesterday in Chicago by the commission, but when it was discovered that there was confusion over the nature of the hearing, it was postponed.

Members of the commission said that those opposing the permit were under the impression that yesterday's hearing involved preliminary procedures such as checking the two-mile limit and runway requirements, and did not appear to press the opposition they proposed.

Opposition Files Petition

The secretary said that a petition bearing 60 names was presented by persons living in the vicinity of the Spiering farm. Among the leaders in the opposition are Charles Ferris, who owns a landing field near Lake Marie; Deedie Tiffany, of the family that formerly owned the farm; and Mrs. W. W. Warriner, real estate owner.

Spiering, owner of the Castle at Rtes 173 and 45 where he lives, bought the 200-acre farm from the Tiffany estate five years ago. He (continued on page 5)

Board Adjourns Early After Discussing Bids For Lot, Liquor Stores

Trustees Protest Noise from Motorcyclists and Will Prosecute

The village board held a shorter session than usual Tuesday night but it took time to plan an ordinance reducing the number of liquor stores, re-advertise for bids in the sale of lot 10, and to obtain a stop and go light from the state for the Lake and Main st. intersection.

Although Tuesday evening was the date set for the opening on the bids on the lot which the city wishes to sell, there were no sealed bids. It was expected that bids would be filed but it is presumed that the bidders forgot.

The trustees were quite disturbed over the practice of motorcycle riders dashing through the streets with the mufflers open making considerable noise. The police will be instructed to issue court summons and the offenders will be prosecuted under state law 213, par. 116.

Chief Fred Peterson notified some of the offenders to appear in court Monday but they would not show up because he failed to give them a written notice.

Hearing that Lake Villa, Grayslake and other points in the county have obtained stop and go lights for intersections where there is heavy traffic the trustees asked President George B. Bartlett to call state engineers at Elgin to ascertain whether or not one could be obtained for the village's busiest corner at Lake and Main.

Flood Control Begins in the Uplands

Flood control is in the news again, as a result of the high water which destroyed the war-built temporary city of Vanport, Oregon, and did extensive damage throughout the Pacific Northwest.

The most vocal school of flood control advocates is demanding that the government construct huge and enormously costly dams to catch the water. These dams, they go on, could be paid for, in part at least, by the generation and sale of electricity. They thus totally disregard the fact that a dam can store flood waters only if it is empty to begin with—while a dam which is to produce power must be filled with water at all times, and so is next to useless as an emergency reservoir. Bonneville dam, on the flooding Columbia, is an example of that. It was producing its limit of power, and had no space for storing the flood waters.

That being the case, what can be done to reduce the damage done by periodic floods? One school of experts, who are honestly interested in flood control rather than in schemes for carrying on the socialization of our electric power resources by indirection, has come up with an answer. In a letter to the Portland, Oregonian, William Voigt, Jr., of the Isaac Walton League, points out that much flood damage, and the floods themselves, result from overgrazing and other improper use of agricultural land. He writes, "Flood control must begin in the uplands. The second step is in relatively small tributary flood control structures. Main stream dams should be considered only as a third and final resort." Commenting editorially on this, the Oregonian says, "In more ways than one the problem of flood control seems to assert itself in the management, or mismanagement, of the land. Flood control may, indeed . . . 'begin in the uplands,' with dams only as a final resort."

This theory, which has a world of practical evidence to support it, was in large part the subject of the vitally important conference on land-use recently held in Omaha. Speaker after speaker, all authorities in various fields, dealt with what must be done to protect our agricultural and timber lands. The solution does not lie in dumping it all in the lap of the government, though government, of course, will help. Nor does it lie in spending billions for high dams of very dubious value. It lies, instead, in educational work, and the voluntary adoption by farmers and all others concerned, of land utilization practices which will guard the soil. That, coupled with dams on the tributary streams which will help control the flow of water into the main streams, is the answer. It may not please those who want to use flood control as an excuse for socializing the power industry and making the Federal government master of us all. But it will do the job.

Don't Take A Chance

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued a timely warning concerning fire hazards that are especially great during summer and early fall.

The fire rate in vacation cottages and resort hotels runs high—due almost entirely to simple carelessness. Many summer homes are far from fire departments, and once a fire gets going, a total loss often results. The only defense is constant watchfulness. Don't overload electric circuits with extra appliances. Don't use refrigerators and similar equipment which have been out of service for months without oiling them. And—above all—see that stoves and pipes are all protected from woodwork, and that fireplaces are screened.

Keep some sort of fire-fighting equipment ready at hand. If a fire is detected quickly, a garden hose or a hand extinguisher may check it before serious damage is done.

The best part of a vacation is getting out of doors. But, in time, there won't be any enticing out of doors to visit if we fail to control fire. Watch your smoking materials. And never leave a camp fire until it has been thoroughly smothered with water and damp earth.

In short, don't take a chance. Then you'll have a happy, healthful vacation—and so will everyone else.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Everybody is for free enterprise and private business—but kinda forgets it at time. Everybody has fire insurance of some kind—also life insurance. There would be no money to pay for your fire losses when your house burns down, or pay life benefits if there was no corporations or business in which the insurance people could invest and earn interest.

Every mama and papa should stir themselves if they want their off-shoot to grow up and have a chance to show his calibre and ability and to prosper in proportion to his effort. Off-shoots can't do that in countries of Big Govt.—and where private business is elbowed around, and out.

Yours with the low down,

Petition Filed . . .

has leased the southern part of the place to John P. Miller for farming and the north part to Artis for the airport.

Artis proposes a modern port with 500-foot wide runways of 3,000 feet length. He will have several hangars and will have a recreation room for employees. A modern restaurant for the benefit of the public also would be built.

Five Planes For Training

The Splerings said that Artis plans to have five planes for use in training. He also proposed to do commercial flying and will take commuters to Chicago and Waukegan at prices, he says will be but little more than train fare.

Artis points to 18 years of flying and 14 years as an instructor. He had extensive experience in flying during the war doing transport work from the west coast to China and India. He also did that kind of work in Canada and Alaska.

He is said to have the encouragement of some Antioch business and professional men who believe that the region will be greatly benefited. They point out that the Chain O' Lakes region needs an airport for those traveling by air and that it would be better to have one good public port than many private ones.

Fear For Safety of Homes

The opposition stems mainly from the fear of those living in the region that they will suffer harm and annoyance from the planes. They point out the annoyance from the planes around Fox Lake which they say are now violating laws by low and reckless flying and are noisy.

Artis maintains that his planes will have mufflers and will be comparatively quiet. They will observe the 500 and 1000 foot flying requirements.

That Artis had petitioned for the permit and a hearing in Chicago was set, was little known around Antioch until this week. Henry Herman, the Tiffany's and perhaps a few others received notices of the hearing but didn't quite understand the importance of it.

Only in the last minute was the matter discussed openly by those who opposed the plan and the petition circulated.

The commission said that it would notify both interested parties and the press when the hearing is called again.

The proposed owner said that if the opposition is real he will give up the idea but if it is only from a few he plans to press his request. If the petition is granted he will start work on the field and building in the fall.

Antioch V. F. W. Team Beats Doc Kings' Rexes Colored Team

The Antioch baseball team sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, took an early lead on Doc King's team last Monday afternoon and came out victorious by a score of 13 to 8. Doc King brought along 100 bats which didn't help them gain a victory.

Ray Bushing pitched the full game giving the colored boys 11 hits, while Antioch collected 18 hits off Williams. Antioch got off to a 4 run lead in the first inning when R. Corrado walked followed by two singles by Scott and Schneider. Manager J. Crandall tripled driving in three runs and came home on G. Fox's double. Eddie Palenski got a home run off Williams in the seventh with one man on.

Next Sunday, July 11, the V. F. W. team will travel to New Munster to play them there. The game will commence at 1:30 p. m. Cen. Standard time. New Munster is located on Hwy. 50, west of Brass Ball corners. The boys have hit a winning streak and appreciate the support given them by the fans.

Illinois Farmers Will Take Sightseeing Trip After Crops Harvested

Chicago, June 30—Illinois farmers are going traveling after they get their corn in this fall!

Two special trains are being chartered by the Illinois Agricultural Association to carry 500 Illinois farmers and their wives to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual convention in Atlantic City Dec. 13-17.

One train will carry the vacationing farm couples along a southern route through points of interest in Florida and up the Atlantic seaboard through Washington D. C. and Atlantic City.

A second train will travel an eastern route going through Norfolk, Va., enroute to Washington, D. C., and Atlantic City, and returning to Chicago by the way of New York City.

Roy Johnson, in charge of the train caravan for the IAA, says the railroads are providing a number of side trips and these will be included in the cost of the train fare.

Johnson estimates that the southern trip will cost $220 and the eastern trip $170. The southern tour will be longer by three days and will provide a greater variety of side trips. Reservations can be made now through local Farm Bureau offices for either trip.

The southern tour will leave Chicago on the Illinois Central railroad Dec. 5. It will arrive at Atlantic City Dec. 13, and will leave after the convention Dec. 16, returning to Chicago the next day.

Features of this trip include: a tour of Wilson Dam, part of the TVA system; two days of sightseeing at Miami; stops at St. Petersburg and Sarasota; and sightseeing trips at Charleston, S. C., and Washington D. C.

The eastern train caravan will leave Chicago Dec. 8 and after five days of travel and sightseeing will arrive in Atlantic City Dec. 13. The train will return to Chicago Dec. 17 by way of New York City.

Special features will include: visits to Radio City and United Nations Headquarters at Lake Success; an overnight cruise down the Potomac River; and a special tour of Beltsville, the U. S. Department of Agriculture experimental farm.

SHORT STORY

In The Family

By ONA FREEMAN LATHROP

THE long black limousine with a uniformed chauffeur at the wheel came gliding slowly down the bumpy brick street and rolled to a stop in front of the little white house. No one got out.

From her bedroom Ann Marie heard the soft purr of the motor and peeked out through the living room. Yes, it was Aunt Sarah, with Jennings in front beside the chauffeur. She'd been dreading this moment. She glanced hastily around. Let them come. Everything was orderly.

Tommy was playing in the back yard. Their own little car was in the drive. They would know she was home. Then why didn't they come in?

Finally the car moved away silently, luxuriously, like a sleek cat that had stalked its prey. Ann Marie heaved a sigh of relief, yet she was angry too. The very nerve! She went about getting dinner in a cold, white fury. So that was her method!

At dinner she told Tom, "Your Aunt Sarah was here today."

"Well, fine! I knew she'd unbend sooner or later and call," he chuckled.

"Oh, she didn't come in. She just drew up her chariot in front and stared agape at our humble abode. Probably seeing how the 'other half' lives."

"Evidently she still can't stand the idea that you married beneath you. Some day I'll show that grand dame on her pinnacle just how far beneath you you really did marry, if I lose my temper sufficiently," she vowed.

"What'll you do, Mommy?" Tommy wanted to know, his eyes as big as saucers, his mouth stuffed full.

"What's marryin' beneath you?" he demanded. They laughed.

"Oh, Daddy was upstairs and I was in the basement," Ann Marie told him jokingly.

But the thought rankled the next day as Ann Marie went about her work. Had Tom stepped down to her level, or had she come up to his, or was there any difference at all?

And then that afternoon the big limousine drew up to the curb again. This was too much! She would not go out and beg her to come in. Let them sit and stare. Only this time Tommy was playing in the front yard.

"Are you Tommy Parkhurst, little boy?" Aunt Sarah called.

Tommy went right on tinkering with his tricycle. "Sure. Are you Aunt Sarah Parkhurst?"

"Why, yes. How did you know?" Her dignified expression almost cracked into the semblance of a smile under her black bonnet.

"Oh, I've heard my folks talk about you and your big car."

"Well! And what did they say?"

"Oh, nuthin', only Mommy said

"I'd love to come in," Aunt Sarah said.

you never liked it 'cause she was in the basement and Daddy upstairs when they got married and the preacher had to yell. Could you hear him clear out to your house?"

"No, I couldn't," Aunt Sarah answered, a puzzled expression on her face.

"Maybe you were up on your pinnacle that Mommy says you sit on," he went on nonchalantly. "Do you like it up there on your pinnacle? Ain't it lonesome up there all alone?"

Aunt Sarah was wiping off either a tear or a smile, but she called, "Come here, Tommy. You are very much like your Daddy used to be, did you know that? And I loved your Daddy very much."

Aunt Sarah got out of the car and took Tommy in her arms. Then she turned to Ann. "My dear, you don't know how I've longed to come in, but I supposed you wouldn't care to have me. I've had James drive past night after night, but I couldn't get up the courage to stop. If you only knew how lonely I've been for Tom. You see, I used to live in a little white house very much like this before I married Tom's uncle. I wasn't always a Parkhurst, you know. And I know exactly how you feel about being in the family. I'd love to come in."

Steering Column Gives Driver a Break—In Head

SHELBYVILLE, IND.—Jeffery Pfaff was driving on a four-lane highway when the steering column broke, throwing him against the dashboard. The sudden stopping of the car threw a big bucket against his head, nearly knocking him unconscious.

About that time he felt a hard jolt. Finally getting the car stopped, he found he was headed the wrong way on the left lane, with the left side of his car badly dented. Another automobile, some distance down the highway, was wrapped around a tree.

Pfaff's car had sideswiped it, causing it to crash.

The happy ending: No one was injured.

Power Line Kills Man in Freak Crash

Trapped Passenger Dies When 4,000 Volts Hit Car

WILLIAMSTOWN, N. J.—Frank Sullivan, 35, a poultry farmer was electrocuted by a 4,000 power line which fell across the car in which he was trapped after it crashed against an electric pole.

Dr. William Hofer, Williamstown police surgeon, said Sullivan had been knocked unconscious when the automobile swerved from the highway and struck the pole but death apparently was due to electrocution. His body, hanging from the car door, was recovered after Williamstown firemen extinguished flames set off by the electric charge.

Sullivan's two companions, George S. Fey, 28, driver of the automobile, and Herbert S. Lewis, 26, were thrown clear when the car struck and escaped with minor bruises.

The accident occurred as the three men were returning from Atlantic City. Fey, according to Patrolman Joseph Berger of the Monroe township police, said he fell asleep at the wheel.

Sullivan, according to police, was riding between Fey and Lewis in the front seat. The doors flew open when the car crashed the pole. Fey and Lewis were hurled clear. The wire fell, according to police, sending off a shower of sparks as it landed atop the car.

Berger, in a police cruiser, drove up a few minutes after the crash. A moment later the wrecked car burst into flames. He called for the Williamstown fire department, then notified the Atlantic City Electric Co. to cut off the current.

Dr. Louis K. Collins, Gloucester County coroner, said Sullivan's body was partly burned before firemen could get to it.

Fey was charged with reckless killing by automobile and was listed for a hearing before Police Recorder Vernon Huber.

Employees Help to Rebuild Gutted Pottery Factory

SCIO, OHIO.—Two months after fire destroyed this town's only industry, employees completely rebuilt the gutted pottery plant and returned to pottery making.

After the fire the owner surveyed the burned ruins of his business and estimated loss at almost two million dollars. He was ready to quit.

Penniless and unemployed, he had founded the company in a dilapidated, abandoned factory in 1932. He gathered a handful of townfolk together and they developed the company into the world's largest firm of its kind.

The climax of their success came at Christmas, 1946, when $75,686 was passed out in bonus checks. The story of the pottery's employer-worker relations received wide acclaim.

In 1933, the employees got a box of chocolates. In 1945, they received 15 per cent pay increases and $75,000 in cash gifts. The pottery workers also obtained such things as household goods and appliances at wholesale prices through their employer's efforts.

So after the fire, the town's physician, clergyman, and merchants hauled building materials, hammered nails to steel Quonset factory buildings and expedited rejuvenation of the pottery plant.

Typists turned steel builders and tea-cup makers became common laborers to restore the plant.

Four kilns have been lighted. Three more will be ready for full production by spring.

The job took 30 days less than expected.

Women, 81, Suggests More Whistling for Weary World

PORTLAND, MAINE.—According to Mrs. Sanford D. Benner, 81, the world needs more whistling to ease its troubles.

"You can't be mean while you're whistling," said Mrs. Benner, whistling champion of the Maine Three Quarter Century club.

"Can you imagine Stalin whistling?" she asked. "I'll bet Hitler didn't. The world is becoming too selfish. Most people are too busy to whistle."

American Smokers Puff One Billion Cigarettes Daily

Per Capita Consumption of Cigarettes Nears 2,324 a Year

WASHINGTON.—Smoking devotees in the United States are blowing smoke rings to the tune of one billion cigarettes a day.

The wartime business boom gave a terrific boost to cigarette smoking, especially among teen-agers and women with good-paying jobs. Sales of factory-made cigarettes jumped from 172 billion in 1939 to 352 billion, more than double, in 1946. The latter figures indicate a per capita consumption of 2,324.

Thirty-five years ago the respectable cigar-smoking businessman regarded the smoker of a factory-made cigarette as a sort of social outcast.

He-men who rolled their own or relished a chew of tobacco looked upon smokers of tailor-made as sissies or college dudes.

Back in the spittoon era many members of congress were tobacco chewers and proud of it. A typical newspaper advertisement of the period pictured Speaker Joseph Cannon of Illinois, with the caption: The thinking men of America chew twist.

Today the factory-made cigarette not only has wide social acceptance but is a sizable item in the national economy. It is estimated that the cigarette tax increases the U. S. Labor Department's consumer price index by nearly 1 per cent.

In 1946 American consumers paid a total of 3.4 billion dollars for tobacco products and smoking supplies. The 1929 expenditure for tobacco products was 1.7 billion dollars.

Cigar Use Falls Off

Treasury tax experts, who recently made a study of tobacco use, report that cigarettes in 1946 accounted for 77 per cent of the total tobacco used in production. Back in 1915 cigarettes accounted for only 10 per cent.

The use of cigars and smoking tobacco (for pipe and roll-your-own cigarettes) has had a big drop in the past 30 years. The biggest slump has been in tobacco chewing. Consumption recently was less than one-third that of 1918.

Cigar smoking in this country reached a peak of 8.1 billion cigars in 1920, the silk shirt year. It dropped to 4.5 billion in depression 1933, picked up some in the years immediately before and during the war.

Government research experts say there has been "a significant decline" in cigar consumption since February, 1947. They explain that recent increases in the cost of living may have affected the demand.

Price Increases

Consumers recently were paying 6 cents apiece for cigars which before the war sold at two for 5 cents, an increase of 140 per cent.

Changes in smokers' income or in the price of cigarettes seem to have had only moderate effect on the demand. Between 1929 and 1943, a period which included many depression years, average changes in volume of cigarettes consumed were less than half as large as the average changes in income levels.

Other government surveys have indicated that in hard times many people cut clothing and even food purchases before reducing their customary purchases of cigarettes and gasoline.

The consumption of snuff has been substantially unchanged for about 30 years. Thirty-four million pounds were produced in 1916, forty-one million pounds in 1929 and thirty-six million pounds in 1933. The production peak was 43,800,000 pounds in 1945.

Hangovers in United States Cost One Billion Annually

CHICAGO.—Hangovers cost the nation one billion dollars annually. Each habitual alcoholic costs his employer $550 every year.

Therefore, industrial leaders will continue to find out ways and means of doing something about him.

The conference, first of its kind in the nation, is sponsored by the Chicago committee on alcoholism. Dr. Anton J. Carlson, University of Chicago medical researcher is chairman.

Dr. Carlson, who produced the economic cost figures on alcoholism, said that "of the thousands of industrial firms in the country, there are possibly no more than 10 on record who have conducted extensive research on the subject of alcoholism in industry."

James H. Oughton, Jr., director of the Keeley Institute, Dwight, Ill., added "alcoholics are sick people. They suffer from a disease just as surely as does the diabetic, a person with cancer or tuberculosis."

"They must not be confused with hopeless drunks and bums. This most certainly does not describe the alcoholic. Not all those with an alcohol problem are hopeless. Many of them have high intelligence, fine, delicate makeups, and are among our community and social leaders."

SHORT STORY

The Difficult Date

By EULALIE WEEKS

WHY was she on this train? Why was she taking this trip that was bound to end in heartbreak? "The scenery in this part of the country is lovely, isn't it?"

Sheila turned to the little person beside her. Certainly there was nothing outstanding about her companion, except perhaps a pleasant expression. Sheila was surprised to hear herself asking, "Do you like travelling by train?"

"Oh, yes, replied the woman. "I like watching the outside and the inside both. People are all so wonderful."

Suddenly Sheila felt like keeping the conversation going. "I bet you know a lot about people!"

"I like to think I do. I guess about them and wonder where they are going and why."

"Where do you think I'm going, then, and why?"

"I'm not sure. At first I thought you were going home to visit your folks for the week-end but you're not happy enough for that. I do think, though, that you're going some place that has some connection with your home."

"Why do you think that, Mrs. er... I'm sorry, I don't mean to be rude!"

"My name isn't Mrs. It's Miss Dolly James. Every one calls me Miss Dolly."

"Oh," continued Miss Dolly. "I know you're familiar with this country because you never glance back or ahead. You seem to know everything that's coming next."

"That's right. I've made this trip to Ganesville pretty often but not very lately. There's no one there for me to visit any more."

"I'm sorry."

The sympathy in Miss Dolly's voice seemed to be all Sheila needed. "Four years ago today I said goodbye to Dannie Ross on the little platform at Ganesville. Dannie had things figured out pretty well. He didn't think he had any right to tell me how he felt about me then but he said that if he ever came back and I wanted to hear how he felt, he'd meet me on that same platform in four years' time and tell me."

"So you're going to meet him?"

"I'm going to Ganesville."

"Didn't he come back?" was the soft inquiry.

"Yes, he came back, Miss Dolly. "I'm afraid I don't understand."

"Well, it's simple, really. Dannie came back and the very sight of him thrilled me so that I was on top of the world but Dan said he thought I had changed a lot. He said I was sophisticated and clied and he paid me lots of lovely compliments but he never once mentioned the subject we had discussed."

"He likes the city?"

"He never used to. He always said he wanted to come back and

"Dan, oh, Dan! How could you?" own his own shop and raise a family in the country."

"But you don't want any more?"

"Of course I do! I'm the same girl inside that he left four years ago. I want the things now that we both wanted then but he doesn't seem to want to find that out."

"Yet you're taking this trip today?"

"I just had to. I promised. But it's no use."

"What makes you think it's no use? Don't you believe he'll be here to see if you have changed or not?"

"I did until last night. We were all at a party and I kept listening for him to drop some hint about our secret date for today but right in front of me I heard him make a date to play golf this afternoon."

"You'd better powder that nose of yours. We're nearly to Ganesville."

The tapping at the window attracted her and as the train started slowly to move, she could make out Miss Dolly's words:

"He had to be sure! He had to be sure!"

Sheila's puzzled thoughts about the little lady's last words were interrupted. Two strong arms enfolded her.

"Dan, oh, Dan! How could you?"

"Sheila, dearest," she heard him say, "I had to be sure. I had to be sure..."

Braille for the Blind

Braille—raised print literature for the blind—is a system of raised dots on paper, two vertical rows of three dots each. In the Braille alphabet various combinations of these dots form 26 distinct characters. In all there are 258 signs and contractions formed by combinations of dots or combinations of characters. Moon, also a raised type, is a modification of Roman characters. Persons whose sense of touch is less sensitive often prefer moon because the characters are larger.

Color in the Home

Color should go around the room, up from the floor and out from the wall. That means, if you have a blue davenport, pick up the blue in a picture or lamp across the room. If there's rose color in the draperies, make sure that the same shade is repeated in a pillow or ottoman. If the rug features green, that green should be used again in a chair or vase or some other subject.

Origin of Father's Day

It was a mother who started "Father's day." She is Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, of Spokane, Wash., a writer of Indian stories. Struck with the need for a day to honor father, and inspired by the love and sacrifices of her own dad, William Smart, a Civil War veteran, who raised his motherless family of six, Mrs. Dodd proposed the idea 35 years ago, in 1910.

Kilkenny Cats

In olden times, Scotch folk tried to drive out the evil spirits of cats by roasting them alive on spits. Not to be outdone, the Irish tied the tails of two cats together and threw them over a clothesline to claw each other until only the tails were left. From this pastime came the legend of the Kilkenny cats.

Australian Stamp Issues

Australia will have three special stamp issues in 1948. They will honor Baron Van Mueller, botanist and explorer; William James Farrar, breeder of wheat; and Henry Lawson, preeminent writer of Australian verse. All three men played a leading part in Australia's development and cultural history.

Care of Electric Fan

Electric fans should be cleaned occasionally, for dirt and grease may impair their efficiency. The blades should be wiped with a cloth moistened in kerosene every few weeks. Water should not be used. It does not dissolve the grease and may get into the motor.

New Smoke Facts

Treasury experts, who recently made a study of total tobacco use, report that cigarettes in 1948 accounted for 77 per cent of the total tobacco used in production. In 1915 cigarettes accounted for only 10 per cent.

Where "Blucher" Gets Name

A blucher is any shoe with a tongue that is cut in one piece with the forepart, the quarters lapping over the vamp. Blucher takes its name from Gen. Gebhard von Blucher, one of the commanders who did Napoleon in at the battle of Waterloo. He designed the model as standard equipment for his soldiers.

Pitcher Plant

Pitcher plant is a carnivorous plant ranging from the east coast to the Rockies. It traps insects with its leaves.
